

13 DOCTORAL SCHOOL

Latin American, European and Comparative Regionalism

Quito, Ecuador | July 7-11, 2025

The Doctoral School is a bilingual (ESP/ENG) training program for doctoral students, organized by the United Nations University Institute for Comparative Regional Integration Studies (UNU-CRIS) and the Andean Center for International Studies of the Universidad Andina Simón Bolívar, Sede Ecuador (UASB-E) with the support of various international academic institutions and governmental organizations in the region.

Why join us?

Explore Global Regionalism

The Doctoral School is designed for researchers and doctoral students interested in Latin American, European and comparative regionalism. Throughout the program, you will have the opportunity to immerse yourself in the most current methods, theories and trends in these fields, which will enrich your understanding and global perspective.

Personalized Tutoring with International Experts

Do you need specific guidance for your research project? At this school, you will have access to personalized tutorials provided by top international academics who will help you develop your work in a more effective and focused way.

Global Research Community

The Doctoral School attracts students and scholars from all over the world, giving you the opportunity to make valuable global connections and collaborate with people who are passionate about research.

Lodging in the heart of Quito

Enjoy a comfortable stay in the university residence located at the Universidad Andina Simón Bolívar Sede Ecuador, in the heart of Quito, and get to know a city rich in history and culture.

Full Scholarship for Outstanding Applicants

To make this experience even more accessible and enriching, we offer full scholarships that cover both the cost of registration and housing in the university residence.

APPLICATIONS OPEN UNTIL MAY 1, 2025

Registration Fee for Latin American Researchers: $350.

Registration Fee for Researchers from other regions of the world: $450.

Candidates must have at least a passive knowledge of Spanish and English.

To apply, please submit:

- Motivation letter (up to 500 words)
- Detailed curriculum vitae
- Summary of your planned or ongoing research project.

Documents must be uploaded to the Doctoral School application form and can be written in Spanish or English.

Fill in the application form